One of the great truths of the sanctuary in heaven is that Jesus ministers his blood for the forgiveness of our sins. In the Gospel of Mark, a leper came to Jesus and begged to be made clean. Although it was a contagious disease and must have made the man a frightening spectacle, Jesus had compassion on him and as soon as he spoke the word the man was healed instantly (see Mark 1:40-42). In the same way today, when a sinner turns to Christ he can be forgiven the leprosy of sin and cleansed. It is Jesus' ministry that makes this possible as our High Priest; he is still the same compassionate Saviour.

As it is spring, all around there are signs of new life. Where I am writing the trees are putting forth new leaves, and in the morning and evening one can hear different birdsongs. All these things testify of a loving Creator who wants us to be happy. We only need to follow His laws and accept the provision of salvation provided in Jesus.

Some new e-book versions will soon be available for the Nook and iPad devices, when they are available I will put details on my website.

All around us the things of the world are a distraction from the spiritual pilgrimage of following Christ. But if we focus on his infinite sacrifice then we will lose interest in these things. The cross places all other things into their true perspective.

Paul said, "I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ" (Phil. 3:7)
